THURSDAYJANUARY 30,
2025San Pedro de Atacama

Drive to the small desert town of San Pedro de Atacama and check into Noi Casa Atacama, a gorgeous sustainable retreat where the low-rise rooms are each decorated with native art and has its own private terrace. After lunch, visit a 3,000-year-old village that has been miraculously preserved by being buried in sand. Perhaps go for an afternoon stroll (if you're peckish, the empanadas at Emporio Andino are legendary) or simply stay put, relaxing by the inviting pool or in the spa.

Meals: Lunch DinnerNoi Casa Atacama

NOI Casa Atacama blends minimalist design with the natural beauty of the surrounding desert, offering a tranquil retreat that respects the local environment. Each room includes a private garden, perfect for relaxing or reading a book from the hotel's curated collection. Guests can unwind by the beautiful pool or enjoy a rejuvenating treatment at the Chañar Spa. For those who appreciate local cuisine, the hotel's restaurant delivers exceptional flavors, while El Emporio, a traditional grocer from 1860, offers authentic products inspired by ancient Atacaman cooking methods.

FRIDAYJANUARY 31,
2025Toconao - Lagunas de Meñique and Miscanti

A full day trip to the Miñique and Miscanti lagoons in the Los Flamencos National Reserve - with views of the imposing Licancábur volcano and stops at the towns of Toconao and Socaire on the way. At an altitude of 4,300 metres, the intense blue of the lagoons makes for a unique contrast to the mountain backdrop. After a guided walk, continue to the Chaxa Lagoon, part of the extraordinary Atacama Salt Flat and the best place to see a flamboyance of flamingos.

Geysers Tatio - Moon Valley

Set out on an early drive to the Tatio Geysers, arriving a spectacular plateau for a sunrise picnic breakfast. Then, there's a guided walk near the geothermal field: at 4,300 metres it's the highest in the world, with columns of water and steam shooting up to 10 metres tall. Bathe in the rejuvenating thermal pools nearby before returning to San Pedro de Atacama. Late afternoon, visit Moon Valley, an otherworldly lunar landscape that's part of the Salt Mountain Range with salt statues (known as Las Tres Marias) before sundowners at the panoramic Kari viewpoint.
